Let's Start!

Where do you want to go? What do you want to do there? Let's talk about travel.

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information, involving apologies, thanks, suggestions and invitations in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about travel.
- I can express a goal or a purpose.
- I can make and respond to offers.

Ask your partner:

- Would you like to go on a cruise? Why or why not?
- Where would you like to go? Why?

Let's Explore!

Vanessa visits the travel agency. Does she buy her ticket to Mexico?

*

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Vanessa: Sally. I'm at the travel agency. I can ask the travel agent. Bye!
Agent: Can I help you?
Vanessa: Yes, I'd like to go to Mexico.
Agent: Mexico! A beautiful country. What do you want to do there?
Vanessa: I'd love to go to the beach.
Agent: How about a cruise?
Vanessa: Hm, I don't like boats. Planes are okay for me!
Agent: I see. Well, here is a simple itinerary. It is very popular.
Vanessa: Is it an early flight from Boston?
Agent: It leaves at noon.
Vanessa: Perfect.
Agent: Do you want economy or business class?
Vanessa: Economy, please.
Agent: Here is a quote for the trip, including flights and hotel.
Vanessa: Okay, I have to think about it. Thanks for your help.
Agent: You're welcome. Here is my business card. Goodbye.

Learning Points

Making and Responding to Offers

There are different ways to make and respond to offers.
You can make and respond to offers using modal verbs, like can and would.
Look at the chart:

Making Offers	Responding to Offers
Can I help you? Would you like ... ? Do you want ... or ... ? Here is ...	Yes, I'd like ... Okay. I want ... Thank you. No, thank you. Hmm, I don't like ...

Examples:

• Travel Agent: Would you like to take this cruise?

Vanessa: Hm, I don't like boats.

• Travel Agent: Do you want economy or business class?

Vanessa: Economy, please.
